Next Tuesday the Democratic party will drop out of sight.

Democratic orators are dumb now, and after next Tuesday they will be dumbfounded.

A little common sense and a fair amount of work will elect the Republican ticket by a big majority.

The floods are still increasing their mischief at Oshkosh and other points in that part of the State. The alarm is becoming wide-spread and the damage enormous.

The Inter Ocean places its special telegram concerning the Milwaukee millers under the head of "religious." It evidently thought they were Millerites instead of millwrights.

England evidently does not desire to have international courtesy of the jing handle order. In the Lord Mayor's procession in London, the stars and stripes are to appear, escorted by a guard of honor.

A Republican victory in Wisconsin is due to Governor Smith and his administration. His management of the State government has been one of the wisest and most economical that ever honored the State.

For a long time, Baldwin, the cashier of the Mechanics' bank at Newark, New Jersey, was considered the most brilliant financier in New Jersey. To have robbed the bank of everything but the safe right under the nose of the president and director, did require some financial brilliancy.

The Presbyterians seem divided on the question of dancing, and the metropolitan papers are interviewing leading divines. Dr. Wormald, of Chicago, is made to say that the church has no "set" rule. Members can therefore form for square dances, and no rule can reach them.

A special dispatch from Menominee to Milwaukee says that all persons that know the desperado, Lon Williams, and who have been admitted to see William Kuhl, the alleged murderer, say he is not Williams, the murderer of the Colemans. This is another singular phase of the question of identity.

J. Ward Ellis, prominent in Chicago business circles, and an old-time Democrat, has joined the Republican club. In doing so he said he had long thought that the brains of political sagacity had left the Democratic party and gone to the Republican. The Democratic party had been on guess work for the past twenty years, and failed every time. The Democratic party was to-day in disgrace, and even children sneered at it.

The annual report of the pension bureau shows that on the 30th of June last, there were in the United States 208,830 pensioners, being 18,023 more than there were in June, 1880. The total amount paid for pensions during the year was $49,723,147, of which $20,954,180 was paid for accrued pensions, covering periods dating back to the date of the discharge of the soldier who collected, or his widow or children.

The workingmen have very often complained that so few representatives of their class receive nominations for the Legislature—the law-making power of the State—reflecting the sentiment of a large majority of workingmen, the Republicans put in nomination Mr. O. F. Nowlan for the Assembly. Aside from being a representative of the laboring classes, he is capable of representing all classes, and the general business interests of the district. Such a man commands the solid support of the party.

The prices being paid for Confederate bonds has been accounted for by the statement that there was a fund in the Bank of England to the credit of the Confederacy, and it was intended to secure this. This reason has had its foundation.

station knocked from under it by the assertion of the Pall Mall Gazette that there is not a single penny on deposit there. It now looks as if the whole was a big speculation in which those who bought at $2 per $1,000 have run the price up to $10 and are now unloading. Like other speculations a few will dip in and dip out again, while others who dip in will never be able to dip out anything, not even the dipper.

It is highly amusing after reading so many Democratic editorials urging the prohibitionists to stand by their colors, to turn back to their own platform, which is as usual, they forget almost as soon as it is made, and read there declared that they are opposed to any sort of legislation which will dictate to men what they shall eat or drink. They openly avow that they are opposed to any restriction upon eating or drinking, thus fairly pledging themselves to free whisky, without even the present license law, and then turn about and urge the prohibitionists to go on, the Democratic organ, in this city declaring that "to fatten is to be damned." The grindstone has such a big hole in it that there is not much grindstone left.

Voters will remember that there are four amendments to the constitution to be voted for next Tuesday:

1. Providing for the election of members of the Assembly biennially and in single districts.

2. Providing for the election of Senators in single districts for four years.

3. Providing for biennial sessions of the Legislature.

4. Fixing the salaries of members of the Legislature at $500 for each regular session, and that no stationery, newspapers, postage or other perquisites shall be provided to members by the State.

As there will be separate ballots on this question, voters should not forget to vote one way or another. Usually constitutional amendments receive very little attention at the polls, but in this case the amendments are of special importance, and it is hoped that a full expression of the people will be given on the question of biennial sessions.

WORSE STILL.
We have received from the Hon. H. H. Giles, chairman of the Prohibition State central committee, the following letter, which we gladly print in the columns of the Gazette:

To the Editors.

MADISON, Wis., Nov. 3, 1881.
GENTLEMEN: I noticed in the Republican and News of yesterday, extracts from your paper, reflecting upon Rev. Henry Colman. What I want to say through your columns is that Mr. Colman is in no way responsible for the dispatch sent to Janesville announcing that he would speak there. Acting upon information and belief that an address from him upon the temperance issue would be acceptable to your citizens, I telegraphed the appointment, and am alone and wholly responsible, since it was done without Mr. Colman's knowledge.

By giving this a place in your columns you will place the matter right.

Very respectfully yours,

H. H. GILES,
Chairman State Central Committee, Independent Temperance Party.

The supposition may be that Mr. Giles states the facts, that Dr. Colman knew nothing of the arrangement that he would speak in Janesville, and that he (Giles) made the appointment upon his own responsibility. But Dr. Colman has also written a letter to the Gazette on the same subject, and was published yesterday, and between these letters there is an interesting conflict. Chairman Giles says he made the appointment without Dr. Colman's knowledge, but Dr. Colman says he was requested to go to Janesville to speak and consented, and when he consented, it appears that Mr. Giles sent the dispatch which has created all this fuss and contradiction. If Mr. Giles' statement is true he was quite bold as well as a little "too previous" in asking that the Methodist church should be opened for political speeches. If Dr. Colman's statement is the true one, then the doctor was asking a little too much when he wanted the church in which to do his campaign work. As to which of these esteemed gentlemen has the right on his side, we are unable to decide. There is a serious conflict between the two men, as their statements are too widely different for each to be true. But then they say politicians will get wide of the mark very many times and this may account for the variance between these brethren.

By the way, to show how the good doctor and some of his brother preachers are working in the campaign, a clergyman of Milwaukee, writes in this fashion, which will serve to show how our friend Dr. Colman is getting along in this very peculiar campaign: "Brother Colman, a Presiding Elder in the M. E. church, and a doctor of divinity, goes to his appointments (as at East Troy last Saturday and Sunday), holds his quarterly conference Saturday, delivers a stump speech on Saturday night, preaches and administers the Lord's supper on Sunday, and goes on his way rejoicing. The other good brethren mentioned (Rev. Sowell and Lugg) are doing similar duty at every opportunity, delivering (temperance lectures) stump speeches in temperance garments which carry on them a strong odor of politics."

Regretting that the letters of brother Giles and Dr. Colman won't dovetail, we hope that the doctor will come to Janesville some time next week, say Wednesday evening, and deliver his talk on temperance. We are assured that the survey is yet deluged. But for the incessant rains, the entire grade of the line would by this time be almost in readiness for ties and iron. The foundation for one of the bridges across the Chippewa at this point is fully completed and ready for the stringers and framework. Proprietary weather will allow continuation of grading operations on the Chippewa Valley and Superior roads, except along the Mississippi bottoms, where the survey is yet deluged. But for the incessant rains, the entire grade of the line would by this time be almost in readiness for ties and iron. The foundation for one of the bridges across the Chippewa at this point is fully completed and ready for the stringers and framework. Proprietary weather will allow considerable work along the line, but it is doubtful whether cars will be running before early next season.

ADELINA PATTI.

Her Arrival in New York—Her Concert Tour—Exorbitant Prices for Seats.

NEW YORK, November 3.—Patti arrived here to-day after an absence of twenty-two years from this country. She arrived on the steamer Algeria to-day. Her last appearance in New York was in "Il Barbiero de Saviglia," and to-morrow night she will have the pleasure of hearing the same old opera by the Maplewood troupe at the Academy of Music. Patti, of course, has come to make money. She will give two concerts during this month, in this city, and will then go to the other large cities, giving, all told, forty concerts. In May she returns to Europe. Many efforts have been made within the last ten years by American and European managers to induce her to come to this country, and three contracts which she made with Mr. Stratton were broken by her, she paying forfeit. She says she is at present her own manager, but whether she will consent to accept the offer of any of the managers who desire to secure her services is yet a matter of doubt.

The sale of seats for Mme. Patti's concerts in Steinway hall was begun to-day. The scale of prices is as follows: Floor, first row, second to fifth row facing stage, $10; first balcony, side rows and rear recess, $5; second balcony, first row, $4; second to fifth rows, facing stage, $3; side rows and rear recess, $2. Admission, $2. A reporter visited Steinway hall in the afternoon and inquired whether there had been a rush for seats. The information was obtained that the sale had not been a large one, and that the exorbitant prices charged must have caused many to forego the pleasure of hearing Mme. Patti. The truth is the public have looked upon the prices as simply exorbitant and do not propose paying them.

Get Out Doors!

The close confinement of all factory work gives the operatives palid faces, poor appetites, languid miserable feelings, poor blood, inactive liver, kidney and urinary troubles, and all the physicians and medicine in the world cannot help them unless they get out of doors or use Hop Bitters, the purest and best remedy, especially for such cases, having abundance of health, sunshine and rosy cheeks in them. They cost but a trifle. See another column.

LABOR AND WAGES.

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 3.—There are no new developments in the cigarmakers' strike, except that to-morrow morning a delegation from the union here will go to Chicago to confer with the unions there. Nearly all the small concerns and all the large ones, except Ed. Ascherman & Co., have acceded to the demands of the strikers. Ascherman & Co., however, employ fully one-third the entire membership of the union, and that firm will not accede under any circumstances. About 300 men went to Ascherman's this noon and took their tools. This evening the firm said they would shut up the factory entirely before acceding.

NEW ENTERPRISES.

MADISON, Wis., Nov. 3.—The Florence Mining Company of Milwaukee, with James Hagerman, Albert Caneo, J. H. Vandike, and George D. Vandike as incorporators, filed articles to-day in the State Department. The capital stock is $100,000, and the purpose is to develop a mine in the iron districts of Northern Wisconsin. The Janesville Machine Company also filed articles. The incorporators are James Harris, W. A. Lawrence, Hiram Merrill, J. B. Crosby, J. D. Rexford, S. C. Cobb, A. P. Lovejoy, David Jeffris, and H. G. Reichwald. The capital stock is $100,000. The Appleton Gaslight Company filed an amendment to their articles, increasing the capital to $50,000.

OBITUARY.

OSHKOSH, Wis., Nov. 3.—Nathan Cobb, an old resident of Winnebago county, died at his residence in this city this morning. He was born in Fall River, Mass., Oct. 1, 1811, and when 14 years old shipped aboard an American man-of-war, making a trip around the world, which occupied three years. He afterwards entered the merchant-marine service, and rose to a captaincy. He was Master twenty-five years. He has resided in England and Philadelphia, and the last twenty years in Wisconsin. He has been a member of the Masonic Order since 1828. He leaves a wife and an estate estimated at $60,000. His remains will be taken to Fall River for interment.

INGERSOLL'S HOME.

PROBIA, Nov. 3.—The Ingersoll Hotel, formerly the residence of Bob Ingersoll, was sold by Colonel Deane to-day, to Harvey Lightner, a well known capitalist of this city, for $23,000. The property was purchased for a prominent citizen who intends to build a large hotel on the lot—a want long needed here.

TROOPS ASKED FOR.

MADISON, Nov. 3.—Sheriff Severson, of Pepin county, telegraphed Governor Smith this morning asking for troops to guard the jail at Durand, Wis., where the man arrested in Milwaukee and supposed to be Lon Williams, was taken for trial. The sheriff says he has not yet been identified as Lon Williams. The Governor is at Mineral Point, but the request has been telegraphed him.

Brother Gardner on Crakers.

"What I was gwine to remark," began the old man, as Elder Toots finally got his feet drawn back under the bench, "am to de blick dat one-half of de solid injument I could take in dis world if let alone and split by a set of men whom I ain'te hope de nev'r ginebrash will cast into do see. I can't pick up a paper widout bein' startled by an announcement dat we eat too much, sleep too little, sit up too late, go to bed too airy, dress too warm or too cold—walk too much or too little. De crakers am constantly at work to put de rest of us on his rugged side of anxiety.

"One day we hear dat consumshun has become our neshund complaint. Nex' day it am predicted dat de fewel supply of de world am runnin' short. Next day we hear of am do statement dat de average of human life am growin' shorter, or dat eight men out of ten have liver complaint, dat a comet am proachin' de earth. Dar's an' tharin' bein' hunted up an' shot off at us every day in de y'rs, an' it's got to dat pass dat dat man who lies down at night dread dat he may never see de moon again, an' he gits up to wonder if de confagshun gwine on in de sun, or if it burn up his garden truck befo' night."

"I has bin thinkin' all dese fings ober. I has been worried an' harassed an' half scart to death ober de drift period, de predicted climatic changes, de astronomical changes an' sudden disasters dat human life am shortenin' up like an old clothes line on a rainy day. I has got to dat pitch dat I'm goin' to set down in my cabin wid a pan of apples on de right han' an' a pan of pop-corn on de left, an' lot de world turn bottom up an' be hanged to her. If white folks want to go to worryin' ober science an' philosophy an' pradickshuns an' prophecies, let 'em do it, but my advice to de cu'd race am to worry ober nuthin' higher'd de roof of a house or deeper down dan de bottom of a cellar. When your day's work am done, set down in de big cheer, light yer pipe, and let do chile'en an' de big dog loose for a good time."

Japanese Wax.

Whoever has seen pistol or revolver cartridge has noticed that the round, metallic end is covered with a greasy coating resembling in many ways tallow, and no doubt has considered it to be that animal product. It is, however, nothing of the kind, being simply the product of a vegetable growth, and known to the trade as Japanese wax. The Japanese-wax tree from which this comes is a tree of great beauty and usefulness. It is a species of sumac and grows twenty-five feet high, attaining a diameter of one and a half feet. Most of the candles used by the Japanese are made from the wax of the berry borne by this tree. These berries are gathered by the natives with a great deal of care, and crushed and pressed. Another way of obtaining the wax is by maceration in hot water, skimming the wax from the surface. The wax is a yellowish white, softer than beeswax, melts at 127 degrees Fahrenheit, and commands a good price. Beside its use for candles, it is of value in the arts and in many minor industries. The berries are white in color, grow in clusters, and are about as large as a pea. The tree itself is of rapid growth and easy cultivation. Japanese wax is also used extensively as a substitute for bayberry wax, the latter costing several times as much as the former. It is used as a coating for machinery when it is to be shipped, as it forms a greasy coating impervious to the action of air and moisture. In appearance, smelling and feeling, it closely resembles mutton tallow.

A Talented Family.

The McSpinkins family is one of the most fashionable in Galveston. The old man, however, is not as nice as he ought to be, but the rest of the family are highly accomplished. Somebody was speaking of them the other day, and he remarked how they all played on some instrument.

"What does the old lady play?" asked a bystander.

"She plays on the piano."

"And the youngest daughter?"

"She plays on the harp."

"And the next daughter?"

"She is very proficient on the guitar."

"And the boy?"

"He plays on the fiddle."

"Well, does the old man play?"

"You bet he does. He plays the stave game of draw-poker on Galveston Island."

Galveston News.

One would think that near relations, who live continually together, and always have done so, must be pretty well acquainted with one another's character. They are nearly in the dark about it. Familiarity confounds all traits of distinction; interest and prejudice take away the power of distinction.

BRIEFLETS.

—Jack Frost is a sharp one.
—The temperance societies claim to-night.

—Rock River Encampment No. 3, I. O. O. F., meet this evening.

—The Kellogg concert drew a $400 house in Beloit, a $150 house in Madison, and a $600 house in Janesville.

—That addition to the meat market on the bridge has not been built yet.

—The water in the river is going down in a double sense—down stream and falling down.

—It is thought that the Congregational chapel will be finished and dedicated next month.

—The new sign of F. S. Lawrence & Co., books and stationery, attracts attention and deservedly so. It is very attractive.

—The sale of reserved seats for Fay Templeton's "Olivette" is to commence at Prentiss & Evanson's to-morrow morning at 9 o'clock.

—Another wooden awning is taken down, it being the one over the store on Main street recently purchased by R. M. Bostwick. Good!

—Clark Church, of Harvard, was accidentally shot through the foot while hunting at Lake Koshkonong to-day. He was cared for at Dr. Inman's, and Dr. Palmer summoned to look after the wound.

—Justice Nolan was called upon this afternoon to tie a matrimonial knot for two Beloit young folk, William Hanner and Miss Elizabeth Bernhardt. The happy man is an employee of the paper mills in that city.

—A young lady at the Kellogg concert shocked the young gentleman who sat beside her by remarking—"That's a damnable!" He recovered when he looked at the programme, and saw she was referring to the violinist.

—Milwaukee street bridge is to be re-planked, the old planks having become so nearly used up that when Street Commissioner Church tested out with a crowbar, the bar almost dropped into the river, it punched a hole so easily.

—A very pleasant social occasion was the tea-party at the residence of Thomas Lappin last evening, in which the friends of Mrs. Stevens, of Winona, Minn., participated, the gathering being in her honor. All enjoyed themselves heartily, and the company was a duly joyous one.

—The Bower City Rifles are reported to be in excellent condition in all respects. The Rifles, as is universally admitted in military circles, constitute one of the best companies in the State, and the encouraging report of their present status was not unexpected.—Madison Journal.

—The Minneapolis Daily Tribune says of Mr. Woodbury's lecture on "Rome," which is to be delivered at the Congregational church here next Tuesday evening—"The interesting narratives, combined with striking paintings, made the lecture one of exceptional interest and value."

—Articles of association have been filed at Madison incorporating the Janesville Machine Company, with a capital stock of $100,000. The subscribers to the articles are, James Harris, Wm. A. Lawrence, Hiram Merrill, J. B. Crosby, J. D. Rexford, S. C. Cobb, A. P. Loveland, David Jeffris, and H. G. Reichard.

—The Milwaukee Republican says: "A Milwaukee lady, while visiting at Janesville, last week, lost a well-filled purse, which was picked up by a newsboy there and restored to the lady. She rewarded the honest fellow with a $20 bill." There are so many newsboys in Janesville, and they are so frequently picking up pocketbooks and returning them that it is hard to tell what particular case the Republican refers to.

—Forbes' dramatic company are to appear at the Opera house here Friday and Saturday evenings of next week in the society drama, "True Devotion," and in the sensational drama "Black Diamonds." Ben Cotton and family are still the leaders in this organization, and as they have appeared here before, they have already a strong hold on the public favor. They always draw large houses here, and next week will doubtless prove no exception.

—We are in receipt of very neat cards announcing the marriage of Charles F. Glass to Ella Florence Salsman, which happy event took place at "C'mere," Iowa, yesterday, and they will proceed at once to occupy their home in this city, No. 42 South Main street. Their union thus formed between two such worthy young folk will call forth congratulations and well wishes on all sides. They both have many friends here, and will be most heartily welcomed back to a permanent residence here.

—B. E. Eldredge has refitted his law offices in Smith & Jackman's block in an elegant manner. An arched doorway between the two rooms, with folding doors, is a noticeable improvement. Besides this French windows have been put in the walls tinted, the floors carpeted attractively, and other fittings and furnishings made in keeping. Mr. Eldredge has also added several hundred dollars worth of books to his already large library. In fact the offices are made complete, convenient and attractive.

—Police circles are quiet, the only stir being such small ones as are caused by the arrest of some tramp or boozor. Last night one fellow who belonged to both these classes was locked up for smashing a pane of glass at the Spence house. Two boozers were also locked up. They were both so drunk that they fell asleep in the street. One was lying right on his back in the mud and water, the other was using the sidewalk for a pillow, and was soaking his feet in a mud-puddle. The Marshal furnished them with transportation to the jail.

—From present appearances there will be no Round Table sessions this winter. No one seems disposed to shoulder the responsibility and undertake the arduous work of framing a programme and securing participants. The executive committee, or other of the nominal officers should stir themselves in the matter, for the present silence is ominous of a dissolution of the society. The organization has done excellent work in the past, and its sessions have been instructive and interesting, and it should not be allowed to die without a struggle.

—Thomas H. Selleck a well known citizen died this forenoon at his home near the Institute for the Blind. He has been in ill health for a year or more past, and had reached the age of 72 years, so that the sad event did not come without due warning. He was a man who was respected by all who knew him, and many friends will join in sympathy for the ones upon whom the loss falls most heavily. He leaves two sons who are engineers in the employ of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway company, and another son who is prominently connected with the McCormick Harvesting company, Chicago. The funeral will be held on Sunday.

—The talk of building another cotton factory in Janesville has not died out, and promises soon to ripen into definite action. The first step is to get satisfactory proposals from those owning water-power, and this is being done now. If reasonable prices are placed upon the power, so that the scheme will prove practicable, then the project will be pushed rapidly along. It is hoped that power can be secured, and as soon as that question is definitely settled, the subscriptions will be opened. A goodly amount of capital is already waiting, and can be put in the form of actual subscriptions immediately upon the decision concerning location and power, and while the amount thus informally pledged is not sufficient to meet all the requirements of a mill such as is proposed, yet the balance can be secured by a little effort. It is expected that in the course of a few days the matter will be definitely settled. Another cotton mill would prove a great help to Janesville, and it is to be hoped that no obstacle or discouragement will be put in the way of the successful carrying out of the present plans, and that all citizens will gladly give it their hearty and practical support.
